

Childminder Brief:

What is a childminder?

A childminder is someone who carers for children that they are not related to, for more than two hours a day, for pay or reward, in the childminder's own home. It is illegal if you carry out any of these and you are not registered.

You do not have to register as a childminder if you are child's parents, a close relative, foster carers (for children they are fostering), if caring for the child in a child's home, Nannies and friends who look after children for no reward. A childminder must be registered and inspected.

The benefits of being a childminder:

The benefits of being a childminder include choosing your own flexible hours, working from your own home, being your own boss and furthering your professional development

Who can you care for?

A registered childminder can care for 6 children under 8 year old (at any one time). Of these 6, no more than 3 children must be under full time school age. Of these 3, no more than 2 children can be under 18 months old. These numbers may be different, depending on the size of your property.

These numbers must include your own children.

You do not have to be registered to care for children over the age of 8. You should use common sense when determining how many over 8s you can look after.

Running your childminding business:

Before you begin the childminding process, you will need to start thinking about the following:

- Which days and hours you will work
- How much you will charge per hour
- Will you collect and drop off at local schools and childcare settings
- Will you accept children with additional needs?
- How will your partner and children cope with other children in your home? Will children in your care be safe around your pets? Where will you store your toys, equipment and resources?

Existing Childcare in your area:

It is important to think about what other childcare services are available in your area and to consider if there a need for more? (Search www.monfis.org.uk for details of all childminders, day care, after school care etc. that is available in Monmouthshire).

Consider the childcare gaps in your area and think about what you are able to offer that is different from other local childcare providers (overnight care, weekend care, sibling discounts etc...)? (Monmouthshire's Childcare Sufficiency Assessment at <http://www.monfis.org.uk/childcare-sufficiency-assessment> will provide you with this information.

The National Minimum Standards for Childcare:

All registered childminders must adhere to the National Minimum standards. This can be downloaded from www.monfis.org.uk/download-document. It includes details of planning, records, working with parents, well-being, food and drink, financial procedures, quality assurance, complaints, child protection, equipment, safety and more.

Who to inform:

If you live in rented accommodation, you are required to get written permission from your Landlord to show that they are happy for you to use your home as a childminding business.

If you intend to use your car for childminder pick-ups, drop-offs or activities, you must inform your car insurance company as you will need to include 'business use'.

You will need to check if your home insurance covers business use.

You may wish to contact your local Fire Safety Service for a free check of the safety equipment in your house.

Monmouthshire's Environmental Health would also like to be notified of your registration. They can provide you with useful information about preparing food, health, hygiene, fridge temperatures etc. They can be contacted on 01633 644609.

Other things to consider:

As a childminder, you will be classed as self-employed. You must register as self-employed and complete HMRC paperwork and tax returns every year. HMRC may be able to help you complete the forms. You will also be required to pay National Insurance.

Consider planning – routines for children of different ages, children's development, behaviour, meals etc. Your planning templates and guides are included in your registration start up pack.

Safety procedures must be in place, including smoke alarms, fire surrounds etc. You will be able to claim up to £100 from Monmouthshire Early Years for safety equipment.

The Childminding Process:

Complete the CYPOP5 Childminding Course.

The CYPOP5 course is the standard qualification all trainee childminders must complete to register as a childminder, regardless of any other childcare qualifications you hold.

The recent CYPOP5 will no longer be delivered and will be replaced by units from the new Level 3 Children's Care, Play, Learning and Development qualification. Those looking to become a registered childminder in Wales will have to hold both the Introduction to home-based childcare unit and the Preparing for childminder practice unit. Those looking to become an approved nanny in Wales will only have to hold the Introduction to home-based childcare unit.
